

Daniel Ilan

Daniel Ilan is an intellectual property specialist at Cleary Gottlieb Steen & Hamilton LLC. He counsels clients on diverse issues relating to protection and exploitation of IP and IT assets, including in connection with IP licensing, R&D and other strategic collaborations, settlements and co-existence agreements. Mr. Ilan also has extensive experience in IP/IT issues arising in the transactional context, including mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, spin-offs, public offerings, IP financing and collateralization and bankruptcy. He also counsels clients on technology standardizations and related IP contribution and licensing. His diverse industry experience includes software and IT, telecommunications, arts & entertainment, pharmaceuticals and life sciences, financial services, consumer goods, fashion and luxury goods.

Mr. Ilan, who is based in Cleary Gottlieb's NY office, spent several years working in the Brussels and Paris offices of the firm and gained extensive experience in European law, particularly IP, trade and competition law, as well as technology standardization.

Mr. Ilan is a member of the Bar in New York and the Israel Bar and is also a solicitor of the Supreme Court of England and Wales.